

PALMER DELEGATES RELEASED AFTER THE 38TH DEADLOCK BALLOT HAD BEEN CAST AT FRISCO MONDAY NIGHT

Attorney General Leaves Democratic Convention Free to Nominate a Presidential Candidate—Convention Then Takes Twenty Minute Recess to Decide What Course to Follow on the 39th Ballot—Was Leading Race at End of 40th Ballot, With Cox in Second Place—Sixteen Unsuccessful Ballots Had Been Cast Yesterday Before Palmer Managers Came to Conclusion That Their Total Could Be Driven No Higher.

Auditorium, San Francisco, July 5.—An eleventh hour release of Attorney General Palmer's delegates left the democratic national convention late tonight with a fight between McAdoo and Cox on its hands and both of them claiming the other could not possibly get enough out of the Palmer wreck to attain a nomination.

Cox's vote of 488 1-2 was exactly his previous high water mark as it appeared on the fifteenth ballot. Attention of Senator Harrison of the Cox forces was called to that fact by National Committee member Guy of Pennsylvania, who asked what the Cox forces were going to do about it. Harrison said they were going out for more.

The convention went into the fortieth ballot with Cox the leader over McAdoo once more and with big changes in sight for the calling of the roll.

On the preceding ballot the Palmer votes from every state in the union except Pennsylvania and Louisiana had jumped into the other camp. One lone vote in Louisiana was all that remained outside of his home votes, which had stayed with him for one more ballot, then to split up in various ways.

At the end of the second ballot after the recess when the Palmer vote had touched two hundred and eleven and it was apparent that it could be driven no higher, former Representative C. C. Carlin of Virginia, Mr. Palmer's manager, took the platform and announced the withdrawal of the attorney general from the race.

Chairman Robinson, in presenting him, told the convention significantly that he was presenting a man who had an announcement to make which he was confident the convention would want to hear. Expectation was in the air and the convention, which only a moment before had been in the height of disorder in a riotous demonstration, quieted down to listen.

Until a pin might almost have been heard to drop in the great auditorium as Carlin took the speaker's place and made his announcement.

"I am about to make an announcement of greatest importance to this convention at the conclusion of which I shall move a recess for twenty minutes to give the convention opportunity to decide what course it shall take."

"A Mitchell Palmer said me to express his sincere thanks and appreciation to every delegate who had voted for his nomination but he is unwilling to leave the proceedings and he has authorized me to finally, positively, and absolutely release every delegate pledged to him that the convention may proceed to nominate the next president of the United States."

There was a roar of "Hurrah for Palmer" as the lines broke and the convention went into a recess. The demonstration, coming to twenty minutes, gave the same effect as does an over-inflated automobile tire when it bursts with a bang and then settles down.

The entire Palmer vote added to McAdoo's total on the thirty-eighth ballot would give him six hundred and sixteen and a half, and would put him in the Cox total on the same ballot would give the Ohio governor five hundred and ninety-four and a half. Both leading candidates were still short of the two-thirds which is seven hundred and twenty-nine.

The consensus of opinion seemed to be that Cox would win the election, but that McAdoo would win the popular vote. The feeling of the delegates was that the Cox forces were going to win the election, but that McAdoo would win the popular vote.

Delegations voting solidly under the rule but at heart divided between McAdoo and Cox, the Cox forces were feeling ill feeling, of which the causes which took place on the floor during the recess gave evidence. There was shouting, waving of flags and some shaking of fists and a great deal of scurrying about. Platform and convention hall floor were jammed with an arguing, scolding, shouting, and some shaking of fists and a great deal of scurrying about.

Charging that several delegations were packed with government employees, holding out for the nomination of Mr. McAdoo, Mr. Carlin charged that the action of the payroll brigade was cre-

Republican Leaders Confer This Week

Campaign Plans Expected to Take Definite Shape Within Few Days.

Chicago, July 5.—Republican presidential campaign plans are expected to take definite shape in Chicago this week, soon after the adjournment of the democratic convention in San Francisco.

The activity will begin tomorrow with the arrival in Chicago of Wm. H. Hays, republican national chairman, a score of members of the national committee and several leading campaign managers.

Conferences will begin as soon as the republican leaders arrive and will continue until a definite plan of action is decided upon, it was stated.
